Description of Idea

Welcome to the Lowes Island Passport to America Field Day. The students will be visiting different state stations performing skills that pertain to a fun fact about that state. Students will be physically active, and learn important facts about the USA. Each class will have their own state passport which will be stamped at each state station.

Each station will have a governor who will explain and run the station. The governor will have a clip board which will hold the “stamps” and the directions to run that state station. When the class is finished with the station, the manager will stamp their state passport.
